History Focus: Victorians Children to investigate the Victoriar particularly the conditions for childre the Victorian times and how it is diffe	n living in	Geography Focus: Mountains This enquiry introduces pupils to the physical and human importance of a biome that covers one-fifth of the world's land surface. The study of mountains enables pupils to comprehend key concepts of physical geography such as plate tectonics and the formation of different rock types, as well as erosion and geological deep time. The interaction of people with mountains at a range of scales and locations illustrates the central paradigm of the discipline of geography – its focus on understanding the patterns and processes involved in the interrelationship of humans with the environments that surround them.	History Focus: World War 2 Children to explore and investigate the period of World War 2 and its impact on Britain as we know it now. Children to learn about the conditions of living in England during the war, key events and people and how the war shaped the future.	History Focus: World War 2 Children to explore and investigate the period of World War 2 and its impact on Britain as we know it now. Children to learn about the conditions of living in England during the war, key events and people and how the war shaped the future.	Geography Focus: Fair Trade This enquiry enables pupils to understand what international trade entails – the manufacture, selling and buying of goods and services between countries through exports and imports – and the fact that trade has been operating for thousands of years. The Silk Road, which remains the world's most enduring trade route between China and Europe, demonstrates to pupils the key concept of trade – producing commodities that other people around the world don't have and are prepared to pay to obtain. This line of enquiry will add value to a study in history of Baghdad (perhaps the most important city along the Silk Road). Two thousand years later, China is the United Kingdom's largest single-country trading partner and the pupils are supported to investigate exactly what the UK imports from China and why?	Geography Focus: National Parks The enquiry begins with pupils identifying the location and distribution of the 15 National Parks in the United Kingdom and understanding the rationale that underpins them – to protect and conserve the country's most scenic and beautiful landscapes, important wildlife and associated cultural heritage, to actively encourage visits and interaction with people and to ensure, in the long term, the sustainability of the 440 000 people who live and work within them. This involves grappling with some very important concepts such as 'heritage', 'environment', 'value' and 'economic activity' through a range of accessible and engaging activities.
Science Focus: Light Children to recognise that light appears to travel in straight lines. Children to use the idea that light travels in straight lines to explain that objects are seen because they give out or reflect light into the eye. Children to explain that we see things because light travels from light sources to our eyes or from light sources to objects and then to our eyes.		Science Focus: Animals Including Humans Children to identify and name the main parts of the human circulatory system, and describe the functions of the heart, blood vessels and blood. Children to recognise the impact of diet, exercise, drugs and lifestyle on the way their bodies function and know how water and nutrients are transported.	Science Focus: Geography Focus: Mountains, Volcanoes and Earthquakes Children learn about the mountains and volcanoes of the world, investigating how they are formed and what they contribute to the natural world. Children to learn about earthquakes and where they may occur and why.	Science Focus: Electricity Children to associate the brightness of a lamp or the volume of a buzzer with the number and voltage of cells used in the circuit. Children to compare and give reasons for variations in how components function, including the brightness of bulbs, the loudness of buzzers and the on/off position of switches.	Science Focus: Living Things and Their Habitats Children to describe how living things are classified into broad groups according to common observable characteristics and based on similarities and differences, including microorganisms, plants and animals. Children to give reasons for classifying in particular ways.	Science Focus: Evolution and Inheritance Children to recognise that living things have changed over time and that fossils provide information about living things that inhabited the Earth millions of years ago. Children to recognise that living things produce offspring of the same kind, but normally offspring vary and are not identical to their parents.
